New Course Material with Additional Exercises Ensures You Get the Most Out of Your Training

The course includes Procedure Professionals Association (PPA) (www.ppaweb.org) material PLUS additional material to understand and practice real-world professional technical procedure writing. The format includes a combination of classroom lecture, exercises, and computer lab instruction with a minimum of 16 hours in the computer lab. Based on student feedback, we include a fifth day that provides students with additional computer lab time and one-on-one time with the PPA certified instructors. The student is required to develop a human-factored, technically correct, full-length technical procedure from a detailed lab exercise containing engineering and discussion material similar to what is encountered with Subject Matter Experts, operations, or engineering staff.

After completion of the course, the PPA writer certification exam will be available for an additional $100 fee paid directly to PPA.
